

PREVENTION/TREATMENT OF CAR SICKNESS

- Keep a supply of peppermints in the car
- Eat a couple of gingersnap cookies before you start the trip and then periodically during the trip
- Avoid reading in the car, particularly on winding bumpy roads. Be sure to keep eye focus mainly to front. This helps the brain process sensory data and avert the vertigo.
- Place the child in the middle of the backseat so they can see out the front, rather than the sides, which can appear as a blur.
- The minute someone feels that urge come on, hand them a peppermint and place a cool face cloth on their forehead.

COUNTING COWS:
Divide the car occupants into teams—left side & right side. Count the cows you see on your side of the car. If you pass a field full of lots of cows, you'd better count fast! If you pass a cemetery on your side of the car, you lose all your cows—but only if the opposing team calls out "your cows are buried!"

SCAVENGER HUNT:
Give each child a list of items to watch for during the trip. Check off each item when they find it. The list can be made up ahead of time & adjusted for who can't read, you might draw a little picture of each item next to the word so they will know what to look for.

LICENSE PLATE GAME:
See how many different license plates you can find on your trip & check them off your list. Divide the car occupants into teams or play individually.
